

12th International Summer School Digital Spatial Epidemiology, August 17 - 21 2020

After completing the course, you will be able to:

- Describe the relevance, potential, and challenges of digital and spatial epidemiological approaches to advance urban health research
- Apply robust spatial and digital epidemiological approaches towards addressing important urban health challenges
- Develop a project with potential for real-world urban health impact using geospatial methods

<http://spatialepidemiology.mystrikingly.com>